Mrs. Howe Outstanding Home Maker

Mrs. Edith K. Howe of Bethel was presented a certificate by Pres. Arthur A. Hauck at Alumni Hall, University of Maine, Tuesday night. Mrs. Howe was cited as an outstanding home maker, being one of four selected to receive such honor. The selections are made by county committees from recommendations sent in by friends or neighbors. Final selection is made by the state.

In the citation which accompanied the certificate to Mrs. Howe, she was commended particularly for her ever-willing spirit of community helpfulness; her activities in her local church and many other community services.

She has been secretary of her subordinate Grange for 17 years, 4-H Club leader for 16 years, county clothing project leader for six years, member of the school board for six years, officer in the Pythian Sisters, Sunday School superintendent for many years, and a community leader in Farm Bureau and Extension Service since its inception in the area.

POLICE CHIEF REMINDS OF POSTED ROAD LIMITS

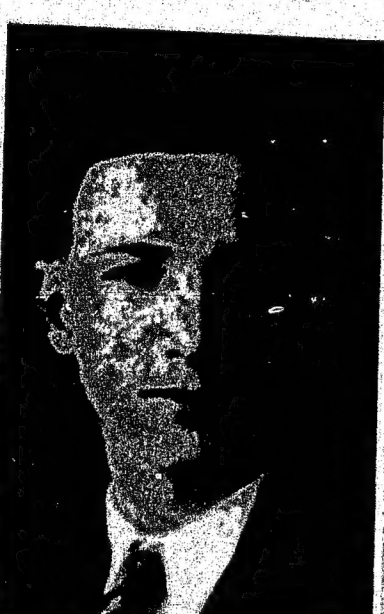

"If you are a truck driver, do you know how much you should carry on a posted road?" asked Col. Francis J. McCabe, Chief, Maine State Police, recently.

"When a road is posted, the only times regular loads may be carried are when the road is solidly frozen," continued Col. McCabe. "We know that from now on no roads will be frozen solidly. Therefore, these limits should be noted: 16,000 lbs. gross weight on a two-axle truck, 18,000 lbs. on a three-axle truck, and 19,000 lbs. on semi-trailers."

Observance of these posted road limitations will prevent great damage to the roads, keep them open for traffic, and, incidentally, save the truckers a lot of money in fines.

Mrs. Walter Jodrey, Mrs. Floyd Bartlett, Mrs. George Parsons, and Mrs. Errol Donahue attended guests' night at West Parish Lutheran Lodge, Tuesday evening. Those from town attending Farm and Home Week at Orono this week include Mrs. Lynn Bennett, Mrs. Edith K. Howe, Mrs. James Brown, and Mrs. Richard Stevens of Middle Intervale.

THIS WEEK IN "MAINE CAREER WEEK"

Maine youth can find opportunities in Maine. This is the theme of the third annual observance of Maine Career Week sponsored by the Maine State Chamber of Commerce to assist public school officials in their career guidance efforts.

Governor Payne in designating March 1 to April 5 as Maine Career Week stated, "This voluntary effort on the part of business, professional and public groups to assist our school officials in guidance efforts is proving very beneficial in our aim to provide opportunities for our youth and to keep them in Maine."

In sponsoring the annual observance for the past three years the Maine State Chamber of Commerce has received pledges of cooperation from local chambers of commerce, all over the state, and from trade and professional associations representative of Maine's economy.

In providing assistance to a career counselor the Career Week program business and professional men are scheduled to speak before career gatherings in the schools of their communities. Opportunities and necessary training for specific occupations are discussed in detail. Several communities and regions in the state have under taken special activities. Chambers of commerce in Aroostook County are working together on a special Aroostook County Career Program.

A special feature of the statewide program is the annual Future Apprenticeship Competition which has been expanded this year to include 35 days. The feature was organized for the first Career Week observance by the Maine Apprenticeship Council and the State Chamber. Final trophies will be presented in seven trades, and the top state winner will receive the Governor's trophy presented by Governor Payne on April 14. Regional contests were held in Waterville and Auburn on March 24th.

Senior Play to be Presented Saturday Evening, April 19

On April 19 at 8 p. m. the curtain will rise on the Gould Academy four-act comedy, "Seventeen," by Booth Tarkington. The annual presentation of the school's senior play. There is plenty of life in this much-presented play yet, as proved by the fact that it was revived as a musical comedy with added songs last year for a successful run on Broadway.

The plot deals with the adolescent man and his problems of love. He struggles to assert his rights as an adult and to emerge as a man. The play is a comedy of manners. It has been a success in the hands of a leading Southern actor who is a national star and who breaks William's heart. His methods of saving money to purchase the "furnace" him involved with pawn shops, "borrowed" wash basins, and the eccentric Negro man-of-all-work. After much trial and tribulation in the usual farce manner, things work out all right, as they must in a comedy of this type.

Included in the cast are a number of local students, including Nancy Dupre, Ray Wilson, Mary Stevens, Arnel Brown, David Jordan, while other roles are filled by Fred Smith, Wayne Gilman, Peter Johnson, Levi Hanson, Alan Aspell, Constance Gardner and Barbara Churchill. Mr. Thompson is directing. Carol Barton is stage manager, with Indiana Rogers, Sue Papp, Mary Knowles, assisting. Peter Hussey is director of set construction. Mary Day is in charge of the costumes and with a nine-member committee to assist in ticket selling. Tickets will go on sale when the spring session opens, Monday, April 7.

I hope that the Republican voters will cast their votes for me in the June Primaries."

Mrs. Thurston Heads April Cancer Drive

Cancer took the lives of 1,041 Maine citizens last year. Many of them could have been saved by early diagnosis and prompt, expert treatment.

Your dollars help prevent needless cancer deaths through spreading facts; cancer's seven danger signals, the importance of periodic examination. The places to go for diagnosis and treatment.

Bring dividends in saving lives. Your dollar support program details: clinics or detection centers or information centers.

About 40 women—headed by Mr. Murray Thurston, chairman of the local drive, and Mrs. Henry Hastings, co-chairman, have planned for an "all-out" drive.

The "lights on" campaign will be held on Thursday, April 24, from 7-9 p. m. Benefit card parties will be in evidence throughout the month and Mrs. Myron Bryant has been named Benefit Party Chairman. The Coin Boxes will be distributed by Rachel Brown. Mrs. Richard Ward has been named Secretary. Mrs. Richard Bryant, Treasurer. Mrs. Dana Brooks and Mrs. Georg Taylor have charge of soliciting business men. Mrs. Addison Saunders, Publicity.

The following have volunteered their services for the "lights on" drive: Mrs. Roger Potter, Mrs. Norvin Humphrey, Mrs. Kimball Ames, Mrs. Fredland Clark, Mrs. Elmer Bennett, Mrs. Stanley Davis, Mr. Robert Keniston, Mrs. Philip Chastaine, Mrs. Norris Brown, Mr. Alice Ballard, Mrs. Russell Graham, Mrs. William Roberts, Mrs. Earle Potter, Mrs. Joe Whitman, Mr. Wilbur Myers, Mrs. Clayton Foster, Mrs. Leland Brown, Mrs. Herbert Rowe, Mrs. George Lathrop, Mrs. Frances Morrill, Mrs. Rodne Howe, Mrs. Herbert Morton, Mr. Herbert Kitteridge, Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds, Mrs. Clayton Blake, Mr. Roy Blake, Mrs. Ernest Blake, Mr. Gayle Foster, Mrs. Blanche Foster, Robert Chapman, Mrs. Charles Rolfe.

Mrs. Jane Swan has been named Lacke Mills chairman and her committee will be announced at a later date.

THIS IS HOW TO STRIKE BACK AT CANCER:

1. Guard your family members against late on cancer physical examination.
 2. Know cancer's seven danger signals.
 3. Signal 1: Any sore that does not heal.
 4. Signal 2: A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
 5. Signal 3: Unusual bleeding or discharge.
 6. Signal 4: Any change in a wart or mole.
 7. Signal 5: Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
 8. Signal 6: Persistent hoarseness or cough.
 9. Signal 7: Any change in normal bowel habits.
- If one of these symptoms develops you will probably be the first to notice it. While the signal does not mean that you surely have cancer it does mean you should visit a physician. It is your warning to get quickly. Your prompt action may save your life.
3. Tell your neighbors of the cancer crusade.
 4. Consider the size of your gift. Cancer is a major problem. The fight against it deserves major support.

Mrs. Smith Makes Monthly Report

The two legislative highlights of the past month in the Senate were the votes on (1) the reorganization plan to take tax collectors out of politics and (2) the ratification of the Japanese Treaty. I took a very active part on both of these measures.

I was the only Republican in Committee to vote for the proposal to take tax collectors out of politics and was outnumbered 5 to 1. But that did not discourage me because the senior statesman of the Republican Party, Herbert Hoover, had actually set the lead for the position I took. I fought for the plan on the floor of the Senate and made a speech which some reports credited with winning as many as ten votes to my side and being the difference between victory and defeat for the plan. When the final vote was taken the plan passed 53 to 27. I was, of course, pleased with that victory—but what pleased me even more was the fact that the Republicans voted 23 to 19 for the plan. I was able to get 22 other Republicans on my side while those five Republicans in Committee who opposed my position were able to get only 14 other Republicans to join them.

On the Japanese Treaty, I joined with Senator William F. Jenner of Indiana in offering specific reservations to the Treaty. In substance the reservations proposed to prevent the Treaty from any way surrendering any of the sovereignty of our country. Apparently the Jenner-Smith team surprised many members of the Senate and many members of the press because Senator Jenner and I have not always been eye-to-eye on all matters. As a matter of fact, Senator Jenner once made a verbal attack on me in the Senate by inserting in the appendix of the Congressional Record a derogatory letter about me.

But something as serious as the Japanese Treaty is too important to permit personal attacks to prejudice one. And I am convinced by overheard Senator Jenner's past attitude toward me and I serve on the Committee on Rules and Administration and other members have been surprised at the degree and frequency with which we have agreed on matters before that Committee.

We but on all of our Reservations. At the outset, it looked as though we would get only a handful of votes for reservations. But to the surprise of everyone we got a substantial number of votes for all of our Reservations. And a majority of Republicans voted for our Reservations.

Even if we did lose, the opposition admitted that our Reservations served a very useful purpose in that they forced more debate and legislative testing of the Japanese Treaty than would otherwise have been possible. That is one of the reasons that I joined Senator Jenner on the Reservations. I not only wanted to make a spirited and direct challenge to our foreign policy on the Far East, but also I have felt very deeply that the Senate has a serious obligation in the ratification or rejection of treaties and that for a long time now there has been a great need to stop this automatic rubber-stamping of treaties made by the Executive Department without sufficient consultation with the Congress.

Senator Jenner stated that he had many Republican Senators re-

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith

press their desire to join him in sponsorship of the Reservations but that he had decided that he wanted only me to be the co-sponsor because my name would take away the isolationist sting that might otherwise have been attached to the Reservations.

It was quite pleasant getting back to the Republican State Convention at Bangor this past week and seeing so many of my friends that I have missed seeing for several months. The open houses of the Convention are really fine occasions as they offer an opportunity of seeing so many friends than could possibly see otherwise.

Now that the delegates to the National Convention have been selected, I suppose that campaign activities of the Taft and Eisenhower forces in the State will somewhat be focused on the campaigns with the U. S. Senatorial campaign would begin to show more signs of real activity and real campaigning in contrast to the comparative quiet that marked the period prior to the State Convention.

I have been asked many times by my friends and supporters about whom I think they should vote for, and about whom I am for. Several of my friends have pressed me to support specific candidates—and perhaps the most frequent argument used in this pressure is that certain candidates have been unfriendly to me and have supported my opponents.

I have declined to state my preference because I did not in any way want to be guilty of trying to tell the people of Maine how to vote. I think that the people of Maine are fully capable of making their own decisions. Perhaps it is true that some candidates have been unfriendly to me and have supported my opponents. But I am not interested in political revenge. And if there are such candidates my friends know well enough without my having to tell them—and I have emphasized to my friends the importance of the candidates on the basis of their own records and without any reference to their relation to me. I think that my friends know my record well enough and that I have stated my position on issues clearly enough for them to draw their own conclusions as to what degree the views and record of any candidate coincide more with mine.

MAINE'S PRINCESS LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON FESTIVAL

Port, brunette Joan Carol Johnson of Bucksport left Maine on Tuesday to attend the five day Cherry Blossom Festival being held at the nation's capital, April 2-6. At Washington, D. C., she will compete with girls from other states for the honor of being selected National Cherry Blossom Queen for 1952.

The State of Maine Society in Washington has arranged a full five day schedule for Miss Johnson starting with official greetings from Maine's Senator Margaret Chase Smith and Representative Charles P. Nelson, and a reception honoring visiting Princess Juliana of the Netherlands. The festival committee has scheduled a series of dinners and tours for the girls, followed by the grand ball with the selection of the Festival Queen by the spin of a wheel, and the Grand Cherry Blossom Parade through the streets of Washington.

Maine will be well represented at this year's event, for in addition to the presence of the comedy program, a spectacular float, proclamation, every hour now is a chance of winning the attractions of the Fine Time future misfortune.

State will be seen by an estimated million persons along the route of March. The float has been built by James M. Acheson, president of a Maine hotel chain and has been contributed under the sponsorship of the Belgrade Hotel.

One of the State's outstanding high school bands, Edward Little of Auburn, will march in the parade led by the main and Maine at 10 o'clock to the festival.

Miss Johnson was named Maine's Cherry Blossom Princess for a state-wide contest conducted by the Maine Broadcasting System in February. She is a resident of Bucksport and is employed as a vocal instructor in the Skowhegan public schools. Her mother is accompanying her on the Washington trip.

Said Optimist Oscar, spirits gay "I'll fix those brakes another day." He sped on his way with a happy smile.

Oscar's been missing for quite a while.

Improve your opportunities... every hour now is a chance of winning the attractions of the Fine Time future misfortune.

Now, today, with the ink just about dry on your last check in favor of the Tax-man—paying up the last installment on 1951—is a good time to rub some salt in the wounds of the nice people of the land as they forget the late unpleasantness. Something has gotta be done or March 15, 1953—one year hence—will be even more painful. And in between times the County and the State and your own Town will be looking you over with a sharp eye to see if there is a nickle or dime's worth of excess fat on your bones that could be whittled off.

What is next, is not easy to do. But one thing—sure as the little apples are in the bottom of the barrel—there are more proposed tax novelties in the offing, like a service charge for the use of a sewage system, which is yours in the first place—you paid for it. Our need today is a citizens committee. It could call upon the Mayor, the County officers, the Governor—lay down the law. Then, in due course, if nothing happened, and expenses continued to soar, take a leaf from the book of the old "vigilantes"—let the committee chairman carry a rope in the crook of his elbow.

And after a little local practice, the Committee could with rope still in hand, take off for that loose and free spending Capitol of this, our once thrifty land, or we will wake up a gone-gosling.

DO YOUR CLEANING easily and in comfort if you want to avoid accidents as well as muscle strain. A dress that's comfortable, or a pair of slacks and shirt are a good outfit for cleaning, especially when you can move freely, with shoulder room. Long housecoats are out, for you might slip on them.

Take time out to get a stepladder when you're cleaning windows or shelves, instead of using a rickety chair. When you're lifting or carrying, plant the feet firmly on the floor and bend the knees to do any picking up. Straighten the knees gradually to prevent lifting entirely with the back.

When you're removing magazines, papers and other items, do carry a basket so that one trip will save several. Use a basket, also, for cleaning supplies.

RECIPES OF THE WEEK
Peaches in Orange Sauce
Serves 6-8
1 No. 2's can peach halves or slices
1 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
Dash of salt
1/4 cup orange juice
3 whole cloves
3 whole allspice

Drain peaches, reserve juice and measure 1/4 cup Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Stir in 1/4 cup peach juice and orange juice. Add spices. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add peaches and simmer 5 minutes. Cool. Serve with plain or whipped cream, or use as a pudding sauce.

Small wagons are ideal for carrying out many items such as several waste baskets. In this way you can make one wagon trip to save several others, and also avoid lifting.

Plan your work so that something can be started, while you do other tasks. For example, let the clothes contain soak in the tub while you clean the medicine chest, load or change towels.

Another example for cleaning clothes is to strip your bed and let it air while you wash windows. dust blinds or pick up the room and closet. After this is done, finish the bed.

Other gifts from friends and relatives were seven beautifully decorated cakes, several boxes of candy and a sum of money. They received 112 cards and one telegram from friends and neighbors.

Three years later they moved to Bethel. All this time Mr. Marshall was a lumber operator. TODAY'S meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, April 3
Walk in love, as Christ has also loved us, and hath given himself for us. (Ephesians 5:2.) Read I Corinthians, Chapter 13.

SINCE God is love, Christ came to reveal God to us as the God of love. The follower of Christ increases his resemblance to God and to the Christ of God as he increases his capacity for living while walking in love. It is said, "The greatest thing a man can do for his heavenly Father is to be kind to one of His other sons." In that way we walk and live in love.

This world is begging for torrents of love. It is in need of Christians who do not have so many creeds, but who know how to love, like love?

Prayer
O God of love, we pray Thy forgiveness because we have not loved so much, as Thou wouldst have us love. We pray that Thou wilt fill us with Thy Holy Spirit and awaken within us an intense, abiding love for Thee. Help us to walk in love among our neighbors. We pray in our Saviour's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
Do others behold in me a Christ-like love?
—Francisco E. Estrella (Mexico)

GRASS ROOTS OPINION
Arlington, Wash., Times: "The county treasurer's office . . . is crowded with citizens checking up and paying taxes. By a study of his statement the taxpayer can figure to the exact contribution toward the administration of his city, which provides police protection, fire protection, upkeep of his streets, lighting, library, and various services . . . On the other hand the increase sums the Federal government whisk away from him are meekly surrendered. . . . If the payer raised half the howl . . . over the Federal extractions that he raises to the county pitance, the din might be heard, and have a wholesome effect in Washington."

The who material plans to start in plenty of time. Many accidents are caused by haste by not allowing enough time for the trip and by trying to save time on the road. Start early; take your time; live longer!

Many days are especially danderous days for pedestrians. There is a tendency to bow one's head to the driving rain or to hold an umbrella in such a way that it obscures vision. Crossing streets in this manner is equivalent suicide.

Golden Text: "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers fantasies: but fear thou God." (Ecc. 5:7.)

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, April 3

Walk in love, as Christ has also loved us, and hath given himself for us. (Ephesians 5:2.) Read I Corinthians, Chapter 13.

SINCE God is love, Christ came to reveal God to us as the God of love. The follower of Christ increases his resemblance to God and to the Christ of God as he increases his capacity for living while walking in love. It is said, "The greatest thing a man can do for his heavenly Father is to be kind to one of His other sons." In that way we walk and live in love.

This world is begging for torrents of love. It is in need of Christians who do not have so many creeds, but who know how to love greatly; of Christians who do not take so much pride in their perfect organizations, but who are filled with the eternal love of God. "To love abundantly," says Henry Drummond, "is to live abundantly." To deny love is to deny the spirit of Christ. Paul insists: "Walk in love."

Prayer
O God of love, we pray Thy forgiveness because we have not loved so much as Thou wouldst have us love. We pray that Thou wilt fill us with Thy Holy Spirit and awaken within us an intense, abiding love for Thee. Help us to walk in love among our neighbors. We pray in our Saviour's name, Amen.

Thought For The Day
Do others behold in me a Christ-like love?

-Francisco E. Estrella (Mexico)

CHASS ROOTS OPINION
Arlington, Wash., Times: "The county treasurer's office . . . is crowded with citizens checking up and paying taxes. By a study of his statement the taxpayer can figure his exact contribution toward the administration of his city, which provides police protection, fire protection, upkeep of his streets, lighting, library, and various services . . . On the other hand the imposed sums the Federal government whisk away from him are meekly surrendered. . . . If the taxpayer raised half the howl . . . over the Federal extractions that he raises over the county pittance, the din might be heard, and have a wholesome effect in Washington."

The wise motorist plans to start in plenty of time. Many accidents are caused by haste by not allowing enough time for the trip and by trying to save time on the road. Start early; take your time; live longer!

Many days are especially dangerous days for pedestrians. There is a tendency to bow one's head to the driving rain or to hold an umbrella in such a way that it obscures vision. Crossing streets in this manner is eventual suicide.

DIRIGO BOYS' STATE TO OPEN AT U. of M., JULY 13

Gerald J. Grady, Director of American Legion Dirigo Boys' State and Assistant Professor at the University of Maine, has announced that 1952 Dirigo Boys' State will open July 13 at the university campus for seven days intensive instruction in town, county and state government.

The program is limited to 1952 high school juniors sponsored not only by Legion Posts but by service clubs, business, fraternal, industrial and social organizations. The expense to the sponsor is $33.00 for each boy. Applicants must be approved by local high school principals.

In addition to collegiate instructors, town managers, town selectmen, members of the Maine house and senate, judges of Maine courts and other professional men give their services as guidance instructors and sit in on town and legislative meetings.

1952 will be the fifth successive year for this instructional course at the university and it is in operation under Legion auspices in the 48 states.

A selected number of graduates to represent each Boys' State are selected and are sent at Legion expense to a Boys' Nation in Washington where federal officials establish a seven day course in federal government.
